This experience has contributed immensely to my personal and professional growth and played a crucial role in earning me the Leadership Award from Parul University.

Prashant's Journey: Turning Passion into Profession

My name is Prashant Ganesh Pawar, a 10th-grade student from Shri Ganesh Vidyalaya in Gajgaon. Growing up in a humbled family, I had a passion for computer operation but didn't know how to turn it into something meaningful. My journey began with a summer batch where I aquired computer operation skills, and thanks to the Cosmo Foundation's computer lab, I was able to explore my interest in technology and editing.

I learned editing software through online tutorials and began editing and designing photos and videos on my smartphone. My work quickly gained attention, and I started taking orders for events like weddings and birthdays. Today, I earn Rs 10,000 to Rs 11,000 a month from this business. This journey has taught me that with dedication, the right support, and perseverance, any passion can turn into a successful venture.

As I look back on this year, one memory shines brighter than all others—a journey that touched my heart in ways words can barely capture.

This year, I had the privilege of working with almost 1,000 young girls in collaboration with the Cosmo Foundation.

Together, we built something extraordinary—a curriculum designed to empower rural girls with soft skills and employability tools.

From pre- and post-assessments to months of hands-on teamwork, the process was deeply rewarding.

But what truly stayed with me wasn't the structure we created or the assessments we conducted; it was the girls themselves.

The cheers, the adorable notes they wrote, the pure love they showered on us—that was the magic.

These 12-to-15-year-olds, who once didn't dare to dream, now have clarity about their goals and aspirations.
